

really loves God
-speaker, communicator

God will be right behind you, holding you up, wherever you go. So go! Don't let the fear of making a wrong decision keep you from moving forward. God can easily direct you once you are moving. Just as a boat is easily steered when moving but can't be if it's still.

I believe God is going to be giving you, or already has given you a shock to get you going. ~~The way~~ this is happening because you are humble enough to receive it and God knows you will listen. God gives His grace to the humble. You are humble!!!

God has called you to be strong, to stand against evil. As you stand, others will receive strength and freedom from that. Your freedom will set others free. Strength isn't developed by going through easy circumstances, it is developed by going through difficulties and by consistent perseverance. When it's toughest know that you are closest to the end of the trial. God is allowing these difficulties in your life, so that the character of and strength you need to fulfill your destiny will be created in you.

You have a great destiny in Christ.

The Holy Spirit is inside of you mightily.

As you speak boldly to others, their lives will be changed.

The Holy Spirit is your source of boldness.
